DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6, 9-12, 14, 17 and 47-98 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 4,862,268 to Campbell.

Regarding claim 1, Campbell discloses a method from providing a video image comprising:

Receiving a video data stream and associated data stream by a computer system (column 3, lines 9-28, column 5, lines 18-25, 54-column 6, line 30) and

Displaying the video image on a display device of the computer system and preforming an interactive command function specified by the associated data stream (column 17, lines 10-47, a user presses a text button and supplemental content appears).

Regarding claims 2,11, Campbell discloses that the video data is transmitted on scan intervals and the data in the VBI (column 5, lines 54-column 6, line 30).

Regarding claim 3, Campbell discloses transmitting digital packets (column 19, lines 5-22).

Regarding claim 4-6, Campbell discloses that the interactive data contains information on where to display the video display window, graphical object, along with pixel data in order to perform a command (column 17, lines 20-55, column 18, line 36-67).

Regarding claim 9, see claim 1.

Regarding claim 10, Campbell discloses audio (column 15, lines 14-16).

Claims 12,14 17 are addressed previously.

Regarding claims 19-20, 49-50, Campbell discloses filtering data packets by source and destination (column 15, lines 16-44).

Regarding claim 47, Campbell discloses a data modem comprising:
A data selector which retrieves data from the VBI and video data in video scan intervals (column 3, lines 9-28, column 5, lines 18-25, 54-column 6, line 30)

A video queue to receive and assemble the video stream (figure 6, tuner 106)

A data queue to receive and assemble the data 117 and displaying the video image on a display device of the computer system and performing an interactive command function specified by the associated data stream (column 17, lines 10-47, a user presses a text button and supplemental content appears).

Regarding claim 48, Campbell discloses audio level control 120.

Claims 51-98 substantially correspond to the above claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7,8,13, 15-16, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,862,268 to Campbell.

Regarding claims 7-8, 15-16 Campbell discloses transmitting interactive data via the VBI.

Campbell fails to teach displaying a selection window which corresponds to the video image and performing an interactive command if the user selects the window.

The examiner takes official notice that utilizing a window to select data is notoriously well known in the art, Windows provide an easy way to navigate data.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify Campbell to utilize a window to select an interactive command for the previously mentioned benefits.

Regarding claims 13, 18, Campbell fails to disclose specifying an colour pallete.

The eXaminer takes official notice that providing an option to select a color pallet is well known in the art. For example modem clients which a user may select the text color to make it easier to read text.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify Campbell to include a color pallet for the previously mentioned advantages.
